Executive Summary

The West Yorkshire Pathfinder Partnership (WYPP) is delivered by Staying Put (SP) as the lead provider, alongside Leeds Domestic Violence Service (LDVS) (represented by Leeds Women's Aid and Behind Closed Doors), WomenCentre (WC), and Pennine Domestic Abuse Partnership (PDAP). Together, we cover the West Yorkshire Domestic and Family Justice (DFJ) area, providing consistent, high-quality support to adults, children and young people involved in Family Court proceedings where domestic abuse is a factor across Bradford, Calderdale, Kirklees, Leeds and Wakefield.

This is a highly experienced and well-established partnership, bringing together over 100 years of combined expertise in delivering specialist Independent Domestic Violence Advisor (IDVA) services and holistic wraparound support. This depth of experience has enabled rapid mobilisation, timely service delivery and a consistently strong operational model from the outset.

The WYPP has delivered a strong and effective pilot, underpinned by collaboration, shared expertise and high-quality frontline practice. A key strength of the service has been its contribution to strengthening the voice of the child within Family Court proceedings. Through close partnership working with Cafcass, the Ministry of Justice and Local Authorities, we have helped ensure that children's experiences, wishes, and lived realities of domestic abuse are more clearly understood and more consistently reflected in court-related assessments and decision-making. We have also worked closely with Child Impact Report authors, ensuring that both survivor and child voice are central to professional recommendations to the court.

The service is trauma-informed, accessible and flexible, offering both in-person and remote support across the region. IDVAs support survivors throughout the court process, including preparation for hearings, advocacy to ensure their voices are heard and support to secure appropriate special measures. This approach not only strengthens survivor engagement but also contributes to safer, more informed outcomes for children.

The success of the pilot is reinforced by strong leadership from Staying Put as lead provider, a skilled and committed frontline workforce and an effective partnership model. This has been formally recognised through a further 12-month funding extension, enabling continued delivery of specialist support to families experiencing domestic abuse within Family Court proceedings.

Looking ahead, the West Yorkshire partnership remains a core strength of the programme, improving system consistency, strengthening the voice of both survivors and children and enhancing outcomes across the Family Justice system.

Training and network events

Working nationally to bring about consistent approaches and setting the standard process for Pathfinder court IDVAS

We provided training to professionals working within the Family Court setting in West Yorkshire on an introduction to the Pathfinder IDVA service.

Attended private law training events to increase networking with judges, magistrates, barristers and solicitors nationwide

Participation at the National IDVA Network to map the pilot programme and help the Ministry of Justice and Cafcass understand the IDVA process.

We have supported our social work colleagues within the local authorities and Cafcass with Domestic Abuse training.

Client feedback

Thank you very much for taking the time to complete the Pathfinder IDVA assessment and for the sensitivity you've shown when discussing my situation. I truly appreciate the work that has gone into preparing the summary and your support throughout this process.

Thank you again for everything you've done and continue to do not just for me, but in giving voices to all victims of domestic abuse going through the family courts process. Whatever the outcome is it has been hugely beneficial to me to feel seen and heard.

Thank you so much for all your support and guidance throughout this process. I really appreciate your advice and will follow it if any issues arise in the future. Your best wishes for [my child] and me mean a lot, and I'm very grateful for your help.

I appreciate support in court thank you. I think not having the support last time and feeling flustered, led me to just agreeing to additional access for him, without really understanding what that meant.

Leah's story

Leah fled domestic violence with her 5 year old daughter, hiding her location. Leah has vulnerabilities including cognitive impairment and mobility issues.

We supported by:

Completing a DASH Risk Assessment which highlighted other concerns that were not known to Social Care or Police. These included possession of knives and threats towards Leah and her family with the weapons. Also it was disclosed that Leah's ex-partner had a history of drug use including steroids and was unstable.

Completing a Pathfinder Summary Report and submitted for the attention of the court.

Making a MARAC referral and the case went to MARAC panel.

Advocacy regarding Legal Aid assessment and options available for Service User to consider.

Referring to Domestic Abuse Support Services for ongoing practical support.

Court support:

Special Measures implemented including separate entrance/exit, separate waiting area, screens in court.

Pathfinder IDVA attended the hearing to provide emotional support

A Legal Aid letter was provided to Leah and she obtained the legal representation for the hearing.

Outcomes

Social Care resumed their involvement with Leah and her family.

Responsibilities given to Police and Social Care for safeguarding Leah, her child and family.

Leah had contact from Domestic Abuse Support Agency.

Leah obtained legal representation as she had felt overwhelmed at the court process. She attended court with a Pathfinder IDVA as a support.

Pathfinder volunteers

Our Pathfinder volunteers are trained to carry out the following duties:

- Introducing and explaining the Pathfinder service and process to service users
- Making 'Keeping in Touch' calls once the IDVA report is complete and individuals are waiting to understand if they are required to attend court
- Providing information and offering reassurance around the court process
- Providing emotional support to service users pre, during and post court attendance where their IDVA is unable to attend
- Completing evaluation forms with service users once the case is concluded.
